

Database Systems

What is a database:

DBMS (database management system)

- defines data: specifying datatypes, data constraints
- constructing data: store data in a medium
- manipulate data: functions for changing data
" for querying data
- Sharing data: user access and scheduling
- protecting data: security against unauthorized access protecting against hardware or application failure

